Overall Score

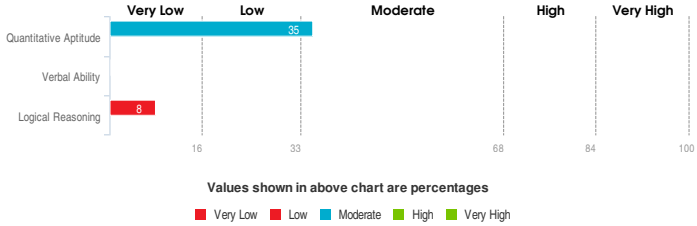

Values shown in above chart are percentages

■ Very Low ■ Low ■ Moderate ■ High ■ Very High

Aptitude: Very Low

The candidate is poor in basic aptitude, weak in communication, and will be unable to execute his duties well. The candidate is not recommended as he/she is unlikely to exhibit the desired competencies required to perform well in the job.

Section-wise Analysis

Quantitative Aptitude: Moderate

The candidate has average grasp of numerical concepts and his/her ability to understand numerical information is moderate. The candidate understands numerical formulas and concepts and is likely to interpret such an information in a logical, rational output.

Verbal Ability: Very Low

The candidate has low level of acquisition of vocabulary and finds it very difficult to select or apply appropriate words in response to simple sentences. He/she is unaware of grammatical parts of speech, such as nouns, adjectives and prepositions and does not know their correct usage. He/she is unable to frame complex sentences as his/her choice of tense is mostly incorrect, as is the agreement of subject and verb in simple sentences.

Logical Reasoning: Very Low

The candidate has very poor ability to understand logical information. He/she is unable to understand tables, patterns, rotation of diagrammatic objects and cannot address Conclusions and Arguments. He/she is uncomfortable in interpreting information in a logical, rational way and will be unable to analyze data precisely.
